

SEVENTY-FIFTH DISTRICT.

Travis county.—Felix Ezell Smith, of Austin, was born in Lynchburg, Lincoln county, Tennessee, August, 10, 1831; moved to Texas in 1851, located near the City of Austin and commenced farming; served as first lieutenant in Col. J. S. Ford's regiment, Confederate army, from June 1863, until the close of the war; has been a justice of the peace, and county commissioner for two terms in Travis county; was a member of the House of the Fourteenth and Sixteenth Legislatures, and was elected to the Eighteenth as a Democrat.

L. B. Johnson, of Dell Valle, Travis county, was born in Ohio in 1825; is a farmer, and was elected to the House, as the Democratic nominee, November 7, 1882.